

Learn how to become an innovative entrepreneur

“Secrets of Silicon Valley”

Silicon Valley has created trillions of dollars and wealth and transformed industries globally, yet the business of innovation remains shrouded in myths and bedeviled by barriers to full inclusion.

This presentation teaches entrepreneurs and innovators how to navigate the practical realities of the business of innovation and how to drive innovation through systemic tools and strategies.

The program is based on practical in-the-trenches “war stories” from hundreds of startups, not theoretical doctrine and book learning.

FREE to the public!

David Frazee

Managing Partner
Richmond Global Ventures

David is one of the world’s leading experts on international entrepreneurship.

As a Silicon Valley based high technology strategist, entrepreneur, and attorney, David has spent his career working with innovative technology companies, entrepreneurs, and funds, helping them to succeed through the creation and execution of comprehensive international corporate, business, and intellectual property strategies.

Saturday, May 4th

10am - 1:30pm

UC Davis Genome and Biomedical sciences facility
451 Health Science Dr, Davis, CA 95616
Auditorium 1005